What's New, Scooby-Doo? is a American animated television series produced by Warner Bros. Animation for CBS. It is the sixth incarnation of the Scooby-Doo franchise that began with Scooby-Doo, Where Are You! (1969–1970). The show premiered on September 14, 2002, and ended on January 26, 2006, with a total of 42 episodes over four seasons. It was the first Scooby-Doo series to be produced in Warner Bros. Animation, and the first to be produced entirely in the United States.

The show follows the format of Scooby-Doo, Where Are You!, in which Scooby-Doo, and his companions Fred, Daphne, Velma, and Shaggy, travel to various locations and big mysteries. Like Scooby-Doo, Where Are You!, each episode is numbered for What's New, Scooby-Doo!, in which the characters solve technology- that did not exist at the time Scooby-Doo, Where Are You! first aired. The show reached the climax of Velma and Fred in the episode "Revenge of the Gadgets", which aired on January 26, 2006. Plus, Mary Kay Bergman (Velma), Casey Kasem (Shaggy), and Don Messick (Scooby-Doo) voiced the characters in the original series. Scooby-Doo, Where Are You!.

It is the first television series to be franchise to chief Frank Welker, Grey DeLisle, and Mindy Cohn respectively portrayed the voices of Fred, Daphne, and Velma. Welker also starred as Fred in the 1979 series The New Scooby-Doo Movies, and DeLisle and Cohn starred as Daphne and Velma in the 1998 series The New Adventures of Scooby-Doo. Welker, DeLisle, and Cohn starred as the characters in the 2002 live-action film Scooby-Doo. Shaggy is the only one of the five to not have voiced Shaggy and Scooby-Doo in the 2002 live-action film Scooby-Doo. Shaggy is the only one of the five to not have voiced Shaggy and Scooby-Doo in the 2002 live-action film Scooby-Doo.

The series premiered on September 14, 2002, and ran for three seasons before ending on July 23, 2006. The 42th entry was performed by Canadian band Magic Dirt. Reviews of the series have stood as both Common Sense Media have praised the series' humor and voice cast since early in the United States. It also aired on Kidscore in Canada, and CBBC for the UK Prime (CITV).

In 2003, the show was made available to stream on Netflix in the US. In June, the episodes were found on HBO Max, and in 2019, the show was made available for streaming on Tubi.
